Scorching Heat in Central West Is Moderated

TOOK OVER A SCORE OF LIVES IN 24 HOURS

HEAT STEALING FROM SOUTH-WEST SET NEW RECORDS OVER THE WEEK-END

IN CHICAGO 13 DEATHS WERE TRACED DIRECTLY TO THE TORRID WAVE

Chicago, June 24.—(U.P.)—Scorching heat that curled crops in the central west and took more than a score of lives in the last 24 hours, was tempered by cooling morning winds.

Riding in from the southwest where new heat records were set over the week-end, hot winds made hotter by a broiling sun descended yesterday on the midwest to drive temperatures to new heights for the last 17 years.

In Chicago, where 13 deaths were traced directly to the torrid wave, the mercury touched 97 late yesterday. Thousands moved to the parks to sleep, beaches were crowded late into the night and charity was called on to deliver ice and milk to the poor in the tenement districts.

Early today, however, the temperature was driven to 85, comparatively cool weather after the sweltering day and night, and the weather bureau held out hopes that clouds would mask the intense heat of the sun today.

The deaths in Chicago were divided with nine fatal prostrations and four drownings. From farther west came reports of four drownings in Paxton, Neb., four in Iowa, one in Illinois and one in Missouri.

St. Louis, Mo., June 24.—Relief from the current heat wave, which has caused two deaths and sent 11 persons to the hospital here since Sunday, was predicted for today by the United States weather bureau. The highest temperature recorded here yesterday was 100, while the day before the mercury reached the 101 degree mark, shattering heat records of five years' standing.

Atlanta, Ga., June 24.—Record breaking heat prevailed through the south again today, with only a slight respite in prospect.

Casualties as a result of the torrid wave included nine persons injured at Dacula, Ga., when a rail buckled from the heat, causing a train wreck.

The highest official temperature in the south yesterday was 102 at Montgomery, Ala., and the lowest 88 at Raleigh, N. C. Temperatures generally were in the high 90's.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—Cool breezes from the north today brought relief to northwest cities sweltering under a blanket of heat and humidity. From 10 cities where temperatures of 85 and 90 with nearly equal humidities were reported yesterday, word came today that temperate weather prevailed.

St. Paul, Duluth, Moorhead and Minneapolis, Minn., reported an early reading of 62 degrees. Devils Lake, N. D., Winnipeg, Man., and Sioux City, Ia., reported the same temperature.

Light showers sprinkled North Dakota and Montana yesterday, but fair skies were predicted over the northwest today.

A. C. TOWNLEY IN A 'COMEBACK' CAMPAIGN

Bismarck, N. D., June 24.—(U.P.)—A. C. Townley, once premier political potentate of North Dakota, concluded his campaign for the title of "the man who came back" today.

Tomorrow voters ballot in the primary election which will determine whether Townley's drive to win republican nomination for congress on a wet platform has been successful.

In the western counties of the state where he first won his political spurs, Townley, whose name was once a byword for "independent nonpartisan political action" is attempting his comeback.

Fighting him is the "machine"—the same machine which he once created as organizer of the Nonpartisan League.

No senators are being nominated in tomorrow's primary and chief interest nationally centered on the Townley fight. Two other congressional nominations are being made, with the incumbents practically certain of winning.

A four-cent gasoline tax is also up for referendum.

FOUR BANDITS HOLD UP AND ROB BANK

Noble, Ill., June 24.—(U.P.)—Four bandits held up and robbed the First National Bank here of $20,000 in bonds and more than $500 in cash shortly before noon today.

The men, all unmasked, held employees of the bank at the point of drawn pistols while they scooped up the bonds and all cash in sight. They overlooked several thousand dollars in currency.

BOY OF 14 IS DROWNED WHILE CLAM FISHING

Prairie du Chien, Wis., June 24.—(U.P.)—Leslie Chapin, 14, of McGregor, Ia., was drowned in the Mississippi river north of here yesterday, while clam fishing. As he dropped the hooked bar to the clam bed, it caught in his clothes and dragged him out of the boat into the river.

GIRL RECOVERS FROM PEN KNIFE CUTS ON FACE

VIOLA NELSON, 18, OF NORWEGIAN GROVE, WAS BOUND, SLUGGED, STABBED

TELLS EXPERIENCES TO MINNESOTA BUREAU OF CRIMINAL APPREHENSION

Pelican Rapids, Minn., June 24.—(U.P.)—Recovering from pen knife cuts about the face, Viola Nelson, 18, Norwegian Grove, today pleaded with representatives of the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension "to be sure those men don't bother grandma, grandpa and Buddy."

Viola told the officers a story of how she was bound, slugged and stabbed when she went to meet three alleged blackmailers without the $30,000 that they demanded. The girl said she had received notes threatening her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arne Holt, wealthy retired farmer, and her brother, Buddy.

She said she kept the rendezvous so that harm would not come to her relatives. Miss Nelson said she could identify the men but that she did not know their names. Posses under the direction of Sheriff O. J. Tweten were unsuccessful in their search for the trio in the lake region near where the girl was slashed about the face and chest. The search will be continued today by the state officials.

The girl said the men told her they were going to kill her but that none would fire the fatal shot. The trio had a gun and it was passed from one to another, each refusing to fire it. "I told the men they could kill me if they had to but not to harm grandma, grandpa or Buddy," Miss Nelson recounted.

PRESIDENT HOOVER DEFERS PLANS FOR SUMMER VACATION

Washington, June 24.—(U.P.)—President Hoover has deferred all plans for his summer vacation until the actual adjournment of congress and, while still expecting to make the full swing of the west's great national parks, may find himself unable to complete the entire trip.

It appeared today Mr. Hoover would be unable to leave Washington until August 12, although that date is still not definite.

The tentative itinerary of the early stages of the trip, through the Twin Cities to Glacier National Park, remains unchanged although there will be no definite announcement until the date of departure is fixed. It will be necessary to visit the northern parks first because early winters there result in their closing each year about Sept. 1.

N. P. Net Operating Income Slumps in May

St. Paul, June 24.—(U.P.)—Net railway operating income of the Northern Pacific in May slumped $560,875 below 1929 figures to reach $560,189, the company reported today. The net income for the first five months of 1930 was $4,159,839 less than a similar period in 1929.

40 CONVICTS AND 2 SENTRY KILLED IN JAIL BREAK

Rangoon, India, June 24.—(U.P.)—Forty convicts and two sentries were killed today when several hundred convicts attempted to break out of the central Rangoon jail.

Sixty convicts were wounded in the rioting in the jail. The prisoners employed in the workshop were enroute to the dining room when they attacked and killed six sentries. The guards rifles were seized and the convicts fought their way to an outer gate where half a dozen armed sentries battled them desperately.

The mob continued to riot in the jail yard until the military police arrived and surrounded the jail. The prisoners then retreated into the work house where they surrendered after their ammunition was exhausted.

Price of Wheat and Flour May Go Up or Down, But Pound Loaf of Bread Remains at Eight Cents

BAKERS HAVE NO INTENTION TO CUT PRICES

BREAD PRICE STATIONARY, BUT PRICE OF FLOUR DROPS 65c BARREL, FIRST PATENTS

MINNEAPOLIS MILLS REPORTED STOCKED WITH WHEAT TO NEAR CAPACITY

Minneapolis, Minn., June 24.—(U.P.)—The five cent loaf of bread is a thing of the past, Minneapolis bakers said today.

The price of wheat and flour may go up, or down—as it did yesterday to hit 1914 levels—but the price for a pound loaf remains at the eight cent mark where it was set two years ago and bakers have no present intention to cut prices.

While bread prices remained stationary, millers reported that the price of flour had dropped 65 cents a barrel on first patents in the last month.

Minneapolis mills were reported to be stocked with wheat to nearly the capacity of their elevator space so that only small amounts of choice grain was actually being bought in for use.

With the northwest harvest more than a month away, farmers were watching with interest the rapid reaping of grain in the southwest.

Grain producers in Oklahoma, the Texas Panhandle and Kansas were said to be holding their wheat off the market. Nearly 90 per cent of the farmers bringing wheat to line elevators took storage tickets home with them.

In some of the southwest producing centers the market price for farmers yesterday was reported as low as 70 cents a bushel. In Kansas City yesterday, July futures touched 82 cents while in Minneapolis and Chicago a low mark of 89 and a fraction was reached.

In Kansas, observers were watching harvesting operations closely. The pre-season estimates of production were threatened with a two-thirds cut as county after county reported below normal yields.

Washington, June 24.—American agriculture faces the 1930 crop year in a stronger position than it occupied before organization of the federal farm board, in the opinion of Chairman Alexander Legge.

Substantial progress in organizing agriculture on a co-operative basis has been made in the past year and a large share of the important staples will be handled this summer by farmer-owned national marketing agencies formed under auspices of the board.

The Farmers National Grain Corporation expects to handle 300,000,000 bushels of the 1930 wheat crop, Legge said today. In addition the grain stabilization corporation is holding off the market about 50,000,000 bushels of grain, bought earlier as part of the emergency stabilization operation. Legge said it would not be offered for sale until the present price depression has lifted.

A gratifying response to the farm board's plea for a reduction in acreage was received from growers of spring wheat, Legge said, but the acreage in cotton was only about five per cent under 1929.

Farmers who desire to withhold their grain from the market in view of the price situation will be enabled to borrow from the grain corporation up to about 60 per cent of the value of their grain this year. No definite loan price basis has been fixed for either 1930 wheat or cotton. The board is expected to make loans on a varying basis in accord with current market quotations.

Chicago, June 24.—Wheat dropped 2 3/4 to 3 1/8 cents on the board of trade today with July and September futures striking new lows.

No particular bearish news was reported, the market sagging on small but persistent selling with buyers absent.

At the inside July wheat was 89 1/4 cents per bushel and September was 92 3/8 cents.

FOSHAY TOWER FAILS TO ATTRACT BIDDERS

Minneapolis, June 24.—(U.P.)—Three times and out is what auctioneers are hoping for in their attempt to sell the 32-story Foshay Tower. The building was placed on the block yesterday for the second time, but failed to attract bidders so the sale was postponed for three months.

YOUNG DESPONDENT MOTHER KILLS SELF AND HER CHILDREN

FOUR VICTIMS ARE OF EAST SAN GABRIEL, CALIF., SUCCUMB TO POISON

MRS. LOUISE PROCTOR, 40, RESENTED HER HUSBAND'S LOVE AFFAIR

East San Gabriel, Cal., June 24.—(U.P.)—A mother's decision to end the lives of herself and her three small children because she resented an asserted clandestine affair between her husband and another woman had wiped out today the family of Edward Proctor, 35.

The victims were Mrs. Louise Proctor, 40; Eddie, 3; Adeline, 5; and James, 6, all victims of poison placed in a pitcher of orange juice by the despondent mother.

Los Angeles deputy sheriffs said there was no doubt but that the mother—torn by jealousy over her husband's affair with Mrs. Vera Caplin—determined on death for her family. Mrs. Caplin was employed in a biscuit plant where Proctor was superintendent.

The poison drink was prepared yesterday. Proctor, before he went to work, noticed one of the children appeared to be ill and called Dr. H. B. West to the home in the Los Angeles suburb.

Dr. West found Eddie and Adeline dead while the mother and James were unconscious. They were taken to a hospital where they died last night.

ADMIRAL BYRD IN ANOTHER JAUNT TO THE ANTARCTIC

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—(U.P.)—Admiral Byrd will take another jaunt to the bottom of the earth within the next two years, Walter Leuthner, Alexandria, cook on the Byrd expedition, predicted today.

Leuthner stopped here on his return from a reunion of the Byrd crew in New York. He said that the opinion of the crew was that Byrd would be back at the South Pole as soon as the present expedition can be cleared away and a new one fitted up.

HANKS DOES NOT RELISH A LIFE TERM

DECLARES HANGING IS PREFERABLE TO SERVING A LIFE SENTENCE

CASE MAY BE CARRIED TO HIGHER COURTS, SAID ATTORNEY HILDING SWANSON

William Taylor Hanks, Indian war veteran sentenced to a life term in Leavenworth prison for the slaying of his wife March 30 at the Mille Lacs reservation, confessed to his attorney, Hilding Swanson, that he would rather be hanged than spend the rest of his life in confinement, says an article in the Duluth News Tribune. A jury, seven members of which later signed a petition for clemency for the Indian, found Hanks guilty of second degree murder and acquitted him of two other murder charges for the slaying of his wife's great grandfather, Shaugobay, and her infant son.

Mr. Swanson indicated that the case would be carried to higher courts if a $2,000 fund could be raised. There was some hope that cost of the appeal would be carried by the United States as the convicted man is a federal charge.

The defense attorney has little hope of obtaining a new trial from Judge Joseph W. Molyneux, who presided at the trial, in view of the jurist's belief, expressed after the verdict was returned, that Hanks was guilty on all three murder counts.

George A. Heisey, assistant United States district attorney, criticized the seven jurors who signed a petition for clemency.

"The jury was very sympathetic. I have not the slightest doubt this man is guilty," Judge Molyneux said.

PROBE OF MURDER OF LINGLE TAKES NEW TURN TODAY

STATE'S ATTORNEY JOHN A. SWANSON OF CHICAGO MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT

Chicago, June 24.—(U.P.)—The investigation of the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, took a new turn today with announcement of State's Attorney John A. Swanson that his office "has not overlooked conditions that existed prior to the assassination of Lingle—and at the proper time I will direct an action against those responsible."

Swanson's announcement was interpreted to mean that he will investigate reports that collusion between police and public officials and gamblers and gangsters brought about the murder of the reporter three weeks ago.

"The action is only being held in abeyance for the time being so as not to jeopardize a possible solution of the Lingle murder itself," the state's attorney added.

The announcement came when the Herald and Examiner, morning competitor of the Tribune, which has been demanding editorially more action in the Lingle investigation, asked the state's attorney if "Lingle was shot down because of his intimacy with police officials on the one hand and gangsters on the other."

Swanson promised that any evidence collected will be laid before the July grand jury.

Meanwhile, the hunt for James 'Red' Forsythe, who has been accused as Lingle's killer, went on with police turning up new evidence that stained his racketeer career with the blood of two other men—"Big Tim" Murphy and James Han.

SENATOR SHIPSTEAD ISSUES DISSENTING OPINION ON TREATY

Washington, June 24.—(U.P.)—The senate foreign relations committee's favorable report on the London treaty today produced a 30 page dissenting opinion from Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota.

Shipstead explained to the United Press that it was his contention the senate could not properly attempt to dispose of the treaty without the documents relating thereto which were withheld by the president. He expressed this view in the report and cited precedents to support it.

Administration leaders were confident today the senate would follow the committee's example and would ratify the treaty by an overwhelming special session.

Eight Persons Killed, 23 Hurt in La Paz, Bolivia, Demonstration

Washington, June 24.—(U.P.)—Eight persons were reported in private advices reaching here today to have been killed and 23 others hurt in demonstrations at La Paz, Bolivia, Sunday.

The demonstrators, a part of recent troubles marking the approaching election in Bolivia were reported to have been so violent that participants tore up streets and damaged property.

The leaders of this outburst were reported to have been imprisoned while in other parts of the country mobs were reported to have been active, even looting banks at some points.

Southern Cross Takes Dangerous Westward Route

ENCOUNTERS COLD WEATHER AND STRONG HEADWINDS AT START

AIRPLANE IS FAMOUS SHIP IN WHICH KINGSFORD-SMITH FLEW ACROSS PACIFIC

By GEORGE MACDONAGH (United Press Staff Correspondent)

SOUTHERN CROSS TAKES DANGEROUS WESTWARD ROUTE

ENCOUNTERS COLD WEATHER AND STRONG HEADWINDS AT START

AIRPLANE IS FAMOUS SHIP IN WHICH KINGSFORD-SMITH FLEW ACROSS PACIFIC

New York, June 24.—(U.P.)—The Radio Marine Corporation received a message from the S. S. Minnequa saying that at 3 P. M. GMT (10 A. M. EST) the Southern Cross was at latitude 51.20 north and longitude 29 west. The plane was flying a course of 261 true (9 points south of due west) through a heavy fog. The message added that the pilot reported he was flying "blind" and at a low altitude.

(A report from the S. S. America, subsequent to the advice from the Minnequa said that at 6:15 P. M. GMT the plane was at latitude 50.30 north and longitude 36 west. That placed her less than 800 miles from Newfoundland.)

Dublin, Ireland, June 24.—(U.P.)—The airplane Southern Cross, following the dangerous westward route from Ireland to New York, was encountering "rather strong headwinds" but flying well when last reported today some 300 miles off the Irish coast.

At 11:05 A. M. (4:05 A. M. CST.) the Southern Cross reported by radio that she was at 53.15 North, 16.57 west.

"Believe we will get through," was the crisp message which Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, chief pilot on the flight, sent out from the plane. "It's very cold. Rather strong headwinds. Feeling fine."

The position given at 11:05 A. M. indicated that the winds were holding down the speed of the famous ship in which Kingsford-Smith flew across the Pacific. They left their starting point—the Port Mainock beach near Dublin—at 4:25 A. M. and flew across the island to Costelloe, on Galway Bay, which they left at 6:15 A. M.

When Kingsford-Smith sent the radio message they had covered only about 300 miles on 2,000-mile flight from the Irish coast to Newfoundland, making a speed of 82 miles per hour, according to his report. Although the speed would be expected to increase as the plane's load was lightened by fuel consumption, it was apparent that the headwinds which the four fliers reported were sharply cutting their progress.

The speed of the plane was increased to 100 miles per hour later, however, when the fliers reported their position shortly after 11 A. M.

WED 50 YEARS,
PAIR CELEBRATES

South Long Lake Couple Receives
Congratulations at Outdoor Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gage of South Long Lake celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Thursday, June 19, at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gates.

The day being ideal for the occasion, a large table was built out in the yard which seated about sixty at a time. The table was filled twice with guests who came to pay their respects to the happily wedded couple of fifty years.

Following the dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Gage were presented with a beautiful dinner set, also a reed and rattan rocker from their many friends. The presentation speech was made by Louis Wiedl, after which all shook hands with the elderly couple, congratulating them. Several harmonica elections were presented by Mr. Wiedl, among them being "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "Happy Days are Here Again" and "Here Comes the Bride."

Among the dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Busby, Harold Busby, Charles Busby, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Busby and family, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Gage and family, Mr. and Mrs. Iver Hagen and daughter Alice, Mrs. Sadie Gage, Arthur Gage, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Every, Arthur and Charles Every, Miss Elsie Every, Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Every and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Maust and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gordon and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wolhart and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lockwood and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lockwood and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morcomb and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Morcomb and family, Mrs. Otto F. Wendt, Albert Wendt, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wiedl, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Caughey, Gene Caughey, Mrs. Wm. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kleinschmidt and family, Ernest Kleinschmidt and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Hildebrandt of Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. O. Christopherson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wheeler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Maust and Charles Cordes.

The afternoon was spent in house-shoe pitching and a kitenball game between the married men and single men. After nine exciting innings, the married men were victors by a score of 8 to 6.

Following the game most of the guests left for their homes to take care of their chores, returning for the picnic supper. A trio composed of Mrs. Iver Hagen at the piano, Mrs. Arthur Gage with the harmonica and Darrel Every at the banjo furnished music for dancing. Later Charles Cordes arrived with his guitar, and dancing was enjoyed until midnight. Popular tunes and old time tunes as well as several old time "shakedown" were enjoyed. The guests then departed after a most enjoyable day.

Mr. and Mrs. Gage were married near Winona June 19, 1880. They have lived at South Long Lake for a number of years. They have five children, Arthur Gage, Mrs. Arthur Gates, Mrs. Myrtle Hill, Mrs. Alice Carica and Mrs. Grace Heinrichs. There are seventeen grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

TEN OFFENSES COME BEFORE GRAND JURY

Sullivan to Present Evidence at Special Session of Jury Thursday Morning

7 DIFFERENT DEFENDANTS

Horn and Pollock Apply for Permission to Plead Guilty to Robbery

Upon application of County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan, Judge M. E. Ryan has called a special grand jury to convene at the court house Thursday at 10 a. m. to consider criminal matters including the Gustafson robbery.

Earl Horn and Jack Carl Pollock charged with robbery in the first degree in connection with the holdup of the Gustafson and Nelson grocery store, Third avenue, N. E. have each made application to plead guilty. Since the offense charged carries a maximum sentence of over ten years it is required that an indictment be returned before a plea of guilty can be accepted.

If the grand jury was not called at this time it would necessitate the holding of the defendants to the November term of court before their pleas could be accepted.

Evidence in the Wells restaurant holdup at Pequot and the Folio Drug Co. robbery at Crosby will also be presented. Horn has confessed both crimes and has implicated Pollock.

County Attorney Sullivan will present evidence in ten separate offenses involving seven different defendants. Completion of work in preparation of the cases is expected tomorrow.

The grand jury selected follows: J. Turcotte, Rev. J. R. Michaelson, Con O'Brien, Hugo Kaatz, Joseph Hebert, V. E. Schedin, A. J. Ellison, Andrew Jackson, K. S. Bredenberg, Mrs. D. E. Whitney, B. H. Nesheim, R. F. D. J. Joe Herbst, Riverton; R. A. Kugel, Aitkin; Raymond, Crowell, Star Route; W. Wladimiroff, Dr. B. Zell, Crosby; Fred Howe, Merrifield; Arthur Nelson, Ironton; J. M. Lambert, Emily; August Nelson, Route 2; Brainerd; Ole Munson, Pequot; Henry Templin, Ernest Brand, Route 6 Brainerd.

make the westward crossing of the Atlantic.

The cigarette case of celluloid was given to Kingsford-Smith by Col. Jas. Fitzmaurice, Irish member of the Bremen crew, after the Bremen's historic flight. The pound sterling note bears the signature of Col. Fitzmaurice, Baron Von Heunefield, and Capt. Herman Koehl, the entire Bremen crew.

Kingsford-Smith said if he reached the other side safely, he and his companions also would autograph the note and give it back to Mrs. Fitzmaurice who presented it to them.

There was another talisman aboard the Southern Cross, a gift to the plane's commander from a religious community at Manchester. It was a small, silver-colored monoplane, like the Southern Cross, mounted on an ebony stand and with an angel supporting each wing. The gift was inscribed:

"Angels Guard Thee."

Kingsford-Smith also had in his pocket a message from President William T. Cosgrave of the Irish Free State to President Hoover. Besides adequate provisions, a small amount of whiskey was carried. Each member also was provided with a pneumatic collapsible lifeboat, in case of a forced landing in the water.

PAUL P. HARRIS SPEAKS OF AIMS OF ALL ROTARY

"IT MUST BE EVOLUTIONARY AT ALL TIMES," SAYS FOUNDER OF ROTARY

"NEEDS A DEPARTMENT OF CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM," SAYS MR. HARRIS

Chicago, June 24.—(UP)—If Rotary is to realize its proper destiny, it must be evolutionary at all times, revolutionary on occasions, Paul P. Harris, founder of Rotary International, declared today at the opening plenary session of the organization's 25th anniversary convention.

When Harris appeared before the thousands of delegates at the Chicago Stadium to deliver his address, "Welcome Home to Chicago," he was greeted with thunderous applause.

He was acclaimed as the Chicago lawyer who had thought it worth while generation ago to bring together a few of his business friends in the spirit of "service above self"—a spirit which since has gone around the world and given Rotary a membership of 153,000 men.

"The yearly, daily, hourly spirit of Rotary should be the spirit of renaissance," said Harris. "We need men of microscopic vision who will explore the molecules, atoms and electrons, but we also need men of telescopic vision who will explore the stars."

"Rotary is a social movement and as such in danger of the blighting effects of precedent. It has already suffered from the plague."

"Rotary needs a department of constructive criticism—something comparable to the research departments of great business. It must be creative and not merely receptive. The genius of big business men must be directed to the task of finding new ways and means of making practical the term 'the brotherhood of man.'"

In asking the delegates to free the organization from precedent, Harris said the time had come for Rotary to expand beyond the idea of only one club in each city.

"Limitation of one Rotary club to each city has proved itself not to be of the essence of Rotary," he said. "It is not the aim to make Rotary an exclusive movement, it is the aim to make its membership representative."

PRES. HOOVER SCORES PENDING VETERANS' BILL

USES VIGOROUS LANGUAGE, INDICATES INTENTION TO VETO LEGISLATION

DESCRIBES THE BILL AS BEING WASTEFUL AND DISCRIMINATORY

Washington, June 24.—(UP)—President Hoover today denounced the pending world war veterans' bill in vigorous language which indicated his intention to veto the legislation.

"The veterans' bill," Mr. Hoover said, "is bad legislation. It is more in the interests of the taxpayers than it is in the interests of the veterans."

Describing the bill as wasteful and discriminatory, Mr. Hoover said it was a very bad thing for the government to set a "standard of subterfuge for the people."

If the bill is passed and vetoed it is considered practically certain both houses will pass it over Mr. Hoover's veto. The direct purpose of the compromise plan of house leaders is to avert if possible, such an embarrassment to the administration.

Mixed Greens

For the man of robust appetite and unimpaired digestion the days that bring mixed greens, with ham bone or hog jowl in the pot, are the great days of the year. And the days when mixed greens are obtainable are now at hand in this garden spot of the world. Ho, hum, there's a big task ahead and a willing worker to fall to and meet the daily test. It's good to be alive when these days arrive.

Spinach has as great value as any other single green food, but it is popular because it is obtainable when mixed greens are not in the market. Spinach derives much of its popularity from the fact that it won in an off season test, without opposition. With full appreciation of spinach, it isn't one, two, three out of three score when compared with mixed greens and ham bone or hog jowl.

Good greens must be mixed; turnip tops, mustard, dandelion, nardow dock, poke root, lamb's quarter and as many others as may be obtainable. Clean them properly, the greater variety the better the feast, provide yourself with a ham bone, on which is both fat and lean meat, well smoked, or, if you are the favored of the gods and own one, use a well cured hog jowl with all the flavoring and seasoning goodness it contains. Cook them in a big iron pot with loving care, for three reasons. The greens will be a great offering to appetite for the rebuilding of the weary body, the ham or jowl will be meat of which the great chefs in the cities only can dream and try to copy, and the pot licker, full of meaty goodness and rich with vitamins, is as nectar to humanity worn with the toil of the day. Babies thrive on it. It was mixed greens and hog jowl that produced fighting men who won the west when the frontier was pushed out and the greatness of the nation developed. Men so fed conquered forest, river, plain and mountain and the present generation could do as much if that same good food was made the foundation in the collection offered mankind in these modern days. Mixed greens, ham and bone, hog jowl, pot licker; wow, the generosity of Nature!—Ohio State Journal.

Gain Publicity for Brainerd and Airport

THE visit of the 109th Aero squadron of eight planes, St. Paul Aviation club, Winnipeg Fliers club and other planes in the city Saturday and Sunday has done much to bring Brainerd and the Rosko airport to notice.

The fliers came in response to the invitation of Captain W. H. Fawcett of Breezy Point Lodge. Their visit brings to the world the importance of the lake country as a recreation center in these hot days and the ease with which one may fly to this territory.

St. Paul fliers made the voyage in an hour and a half. Army fliers carry six hours supply of gasoline and so their round trip did not deplete their tanks.

The courtesies shown the fliers by the local airport and the Chamber of Commerce were deeply appreciated and drew much comment and all said they would do everything possible, in return, to let the world know how air-minded Brainerd and the lake region are.

Fishing, hunting, boating, bathing, golfing and all the other sports of this great lake area are open to the aviator who in a few hours can leave the depressing, enervating heat of a large city and wing his way to peace and comfort among the lakes and pines. The assurance that there is a good airport giving him all possible attention is an incentive to fly to Brainerd. In closing mention should be made, too, of the Standard Oil Company at Brainerd, which furnished the truck and service bringing aviation gasoline to the fliers.

What as a Substitute?

It is doubtful if any one substitute could be suggested that would enjoy the support of all who are opposed to the eighteenth amendment, any more than that legislation itself enjoys the support of all who find fault with it. Any fool can tell that there is something wrong with the present situation. Some one of larger capacity is required to suggest a way to correct the wrong, which will enjoy the support of public opinion to a greater extent than the present statutes. Despite their dissatisfaction with the present law, which is certainly born of good and sufficient justification, should a referendum be proposed at this hour, many people, honestly opposed to prohibition, would find themselves preferring to stick to evils that we have rather than to fly to evils that we know not of. The liquor controversy is stalemated until some yet unproposed suggestion for curbing liquor traffic makes itself known.—Laverne Star.

Back Pay for the Scrubwomen

FROM the governing board of Harvard University comes the decision that $280 in "back wages" will be paid to each of the 20 Harvard scrubwomen who were discharged last December after it was disclosed that they were getting less than the minimum prescribed by the Massachusetts Minimum Wage Commission. According to the New York Times, the $280 recommended for each woman will reimburse her for a two-cent shortage over a nine-year period.

With this decision the scrubwomen episode is closed and the group of Harvard alumni headed by Corliss Lamont, instructor of philosophy at Columbia, will abandon its plans of bringing justice to the scrubwomen by raising funds through alumni subscription to pay the differences between the Harvard wage and the minimum wage. So the differences have been washed out.

Luxuriant Peonies

It is a glorious sight to see the increase in the number of peonies grown in Brainerd every season. The beautiful flowers luxuriant in a riot of colors ranging from white to red are in bloom and the plants are exceptionally fine this year.

Peony culture has been fostered by the Crow Wing County Garden Flower society and its officers and member have set examples by growing some of the finest blooms ever seen in Brainerd.

Last year the society had a wonderful peony show at the court house and it was a most satisfactory show, but this year with the wealth of blooms on hand, it is hoped to largely increase the list of entries and add to the attendance at the show.

The Crow Wing County Garden Flower society is a worthy activity and it is hoped more persons will join.

Larry, the Panhandler

By NELLIE R. GATES

(Copyright.)

OF COURSE every one who reads his daily paper knows Lawrence Storm, Sr. Hardly a day passes that the famous "sugar tycoon" is not mentioned on the financial page. But unless you are buying your sugar on the exchange instead of over the counter, his exploits do not make interesting reading. But Larry, Jr.—Lollypop Larry—that is a different story!

There is a lad who keeps the reporters on the jump. Several newspaper men have made their reputations embellishing one of Lollypop Larry's escapades for their paper. He can spend money faster than his distinguished dad can make it. Or could, but that is a different story, too.

Naturally most of the girls were right on their toes to please this son of Croesus. He had had everything he had ever wanted in his twenty-three years handed to him on a silver platter, until he met Leta Bird, the girl who made the big hit as the sophisticated little sister in Concentric Circles.

"Why is it I can't make that kid fall for me, Ruthie?" he asked Ruth Kent, the attractive, efficient young girl who was his mother's private secretary, as she was giving him tea one afternoon under a scarlet umbrella on the lawn of the Storm country house. "I've given her as good a rush as I ever tried on anyone."

Ruth stared at him from under arched brows. She and Larry had been friends—and enemies—for years. "Suppose you tell me, Larry," she said coolly, pouring herself a second cup of tea, "just why you should expect a girl like Leta Bird to fall for you. Leta Bird, I happen to know, is a splendid girl who has worked hard to get where she is. Why on earth," she suddenly blazed out at him, "why don't you stick to your chorus girls and the silly little flappers you like so well? Why should a fine girl like Leta Bird want to fall for a panhandler?"

"A what?" Astonishment and anger were mingled in Larry's question. "A what did you call me, Ruth?" "A panhandler," defiantly. "What are you but a panhandler? Lollypop Larry who never did a day's work in his life. Who lives on his father's donations."

"A panhandler. Why Ruth, that means a bum, a beggar."

"Well?" "So that's what you think of me." "That's what I think of you, Larry. And that's why honest, hard-working girls with ambitions to be something besides gold diggers, don't fall for you, Larry."

Larry left home without even a good-bye. For ten weeks no one heard a word from him. Even his family had no idea where he was or what he was doing. "But he can't be up to any foolishness," Mr. Storm said one afternoon, as they were discussing his absence in Ruth's presence, "because the papers haven't been able to get hold of anything. And he hasn't drawn his allowance since he left. Those little notes that come each Monday morning saying he is all right and not to worry, prove he is all right, I feel."

"Well, they don't prove it to me," answered Mrs. Storm. "I wish he would come back and—"

"It wishes were horses, panhandlers would ride," Stepping out of the sun porch onto the wide veranda where the family were sitting, Larry took his mother in his arms, shook hands with his father, then went over to where Ruth was again pouring tea. "Behold a new member of the proletariat. It's my afternoon off. I didn't want anyone to think I had to have pull to get a job, so instead of applying for one at dad's office, I went up to Skenter and got one in the refinery there. I'm learning the sugar business from the bottom, dad."

Mrs. Storm evidently was not particularly pleased at the turn things were taking. "One man in the family with his nose to the grindstone should be enough," she said petulantly. But Mr. Storm, Sr., was delighted. "I told you there was something in the lad that would come out sooner or later," he said as he and Mrs. Storm went into the house.

"Well Ruthie, do you think that, with a regular job, I have graduated from the panhandling class?"

"Oh, Larry, please!"

"Now don't you dare to be crawfish, Ruth Kent. Look at your handiwork and be proud. Do you suppose a nice ambitious girl, who was not a gold digger, would fall for me now? I am making thirty-seven dollars and fifty cents a week."

"I know she would, Larry. You just try and date Leta Bird tonight. Tell her what you are doing. I'll bet she will take you on."

"Leta Bird? Who ever said anything about Leta Bird? I am talking about a pal of mine named Ruth Kent. Do you suppose Ruth Kent would fall for me, if I gave her a real rush?" Larry's words were trivial enough, but the voice behind them went deep down into Ruth Kent's heart. His eyes, alive with honest pleading, looked down into hers. "This is the last panhandling I'll ever do, Ruthie, so help me God. But I've got to have a little help to get through this thing right. Will you give it to me?"

"You have all I have, already, Larry," Ruth replied, and Shubad opened one eye lazily to see what this sudden eye meant.

Beauty Disappearing

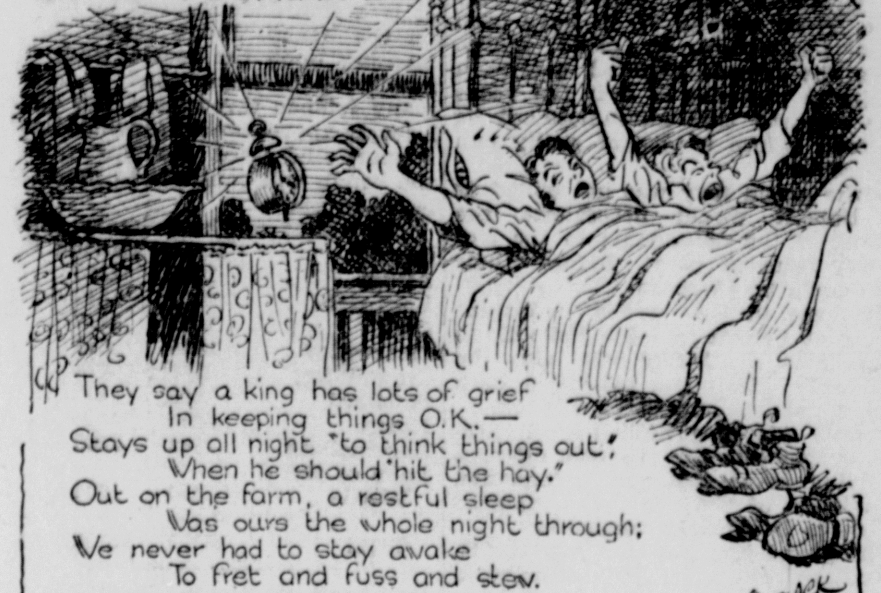

Some flowers and trees in danger of extinction in the United States are: Columbine in Colorado, trailing arbutus in Middle West, trillium and fringed gentian throughout the United States, holly through the South, and dogwood, particularly in the eastern and Middle Atlantic states.

Washington's Work Lasting

George Washington, with his engineering knowledge, built a garden at Mount Vernon original in design, with box-bordered paths, beds and driveways that to this day, in perfect preservation, is the marvel and admiration of all landscape architects and planters.

THE ALARM CLOCK

BY A. J. DUNLAP.

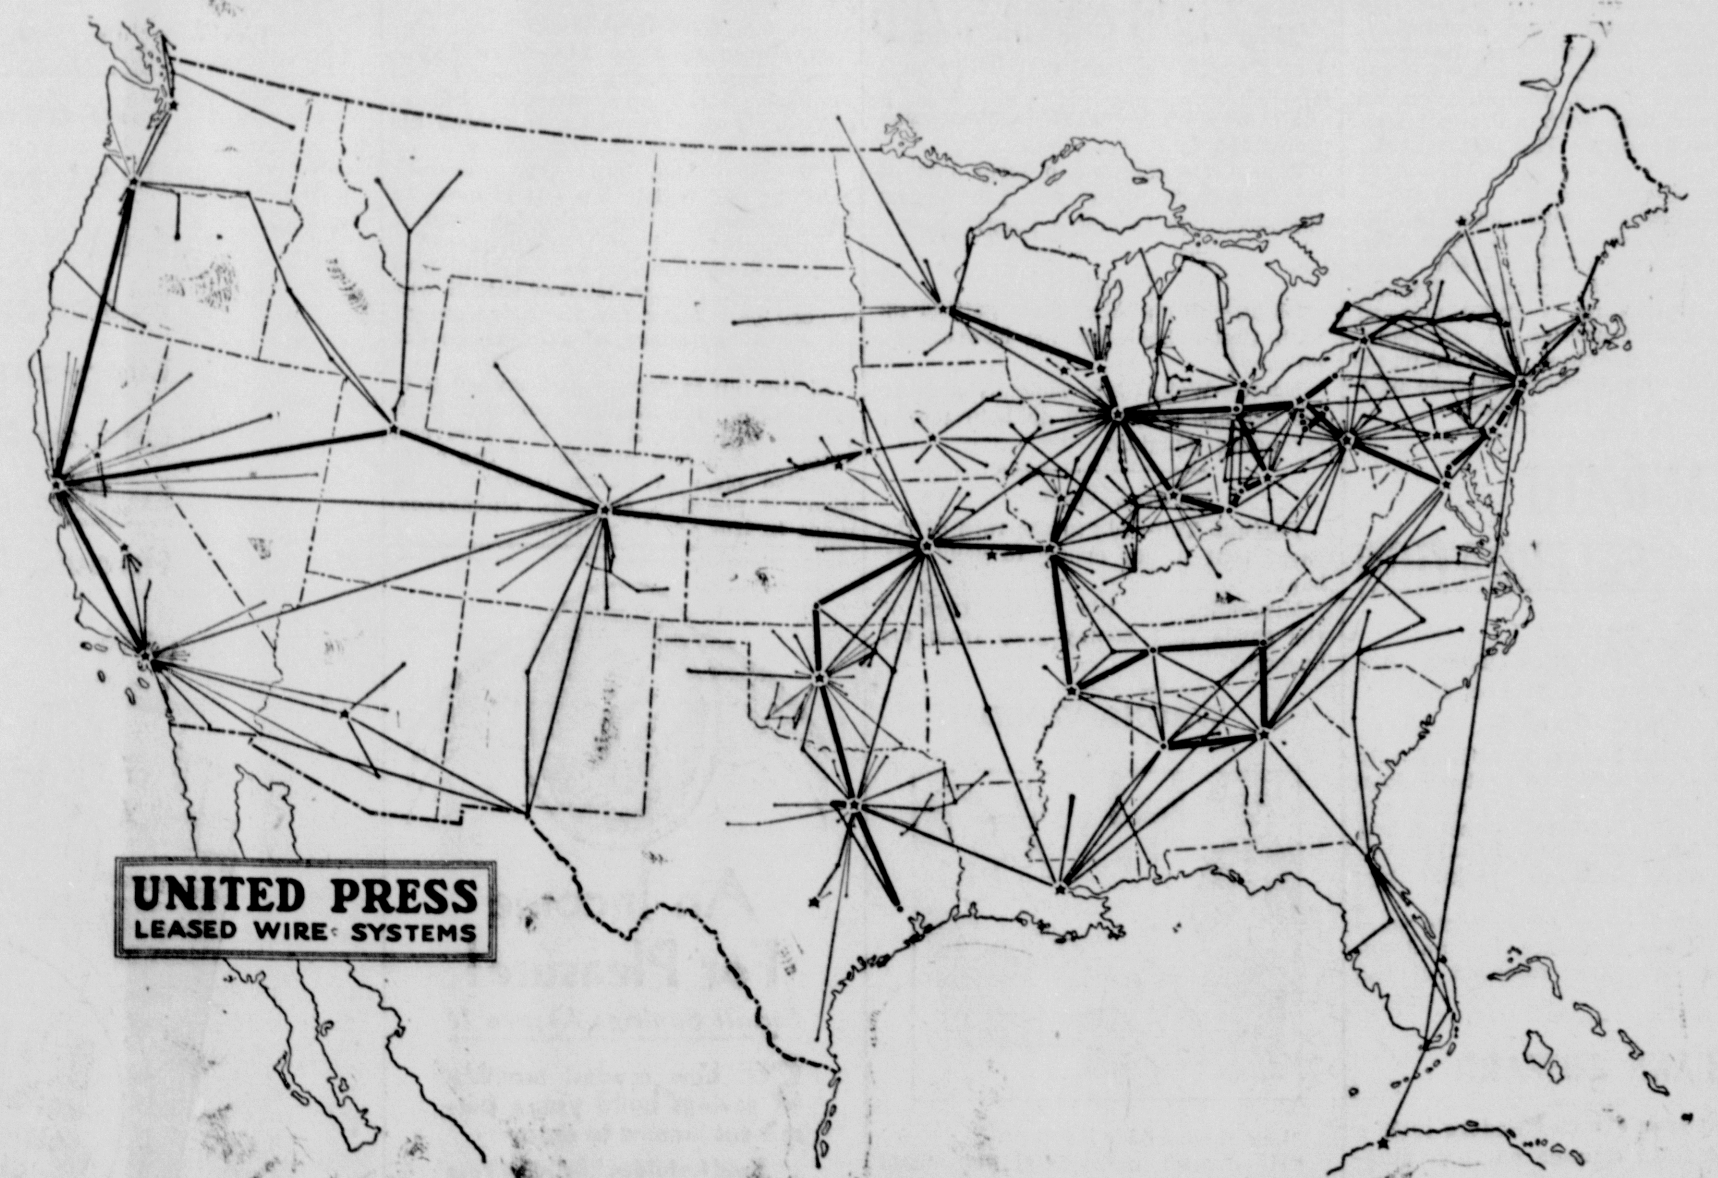

They say a king has lots of grief
In keeping things O.K.—
Stays up all night 'to think things out,'
When he should 'hit the hay,'
Out on the farm, a restful sleep
Was ours the whole night through;
We never had to stay awake
To fret and fuss and stew.

The only trouble that we had
Was when the old alarm
Disturbed at dawn our peaceful sleep
That blessed us on the farm.
Then, how we longed to shut it off,
To still its clanging call
And drift back to the Land of Dreams—
Our faces to the wall.

But well we knew that Nature moved
With sure and silent power;
That in the corn the hungry weeds
Were growing hour by hour;
And so we let the old clock rave,
We worked all day and then
At bedtime took the old clock down
And wound it up again.

CARNERA WINS ON A FOUL OVER BIG GEORGE GODFREY

ITALIAN DROPPED BY A LOW BLOW IN FIFTH ROUND

THREE-CORNERED RACE FOR AMERICAN LEAGUE FLAG

AWKWARD, BUT WILLING TO TAKE PUNISHMENT, IS CARNERA

FOR TWO AND A HALF ROUNDS NEGRO HIT WITH EVERYTHING BUT WATER BUCKET

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

Philadelphia, June 24.—Primo Carnera's progress up the ladder to heavyweight fame and millions was temporarily interrupted last night when the big, good-natured Italian was dropped by a low blow in the fifth round of his fight with George Godfrey.

But Primo showed that he is on the way, and a lot farther along than most of us thought, and today there is no one who saw the fight and its disgraceful ending who will not admit that Carnera is a real real fighting man.

Awkward still, of course, but what a lot of punishment this big boy can take, and keep on taking, and just grin and fight back the harder.

For two and one half rounds, Godfrey, who weighed 250 pounds to Carnera's 262, hit Primo with everything but the water bucket. And the Italian took it, and kept coming in for more, clumsy as a big St. Bernard puppy, but growing better every minute.

They took the "handcuffs" off big George and let him show what he could do, a chance he has sought for many years. It was quite a lot, but it was just a game of tag for Primo.

Carnera won the last half of the third round, took the fourth with some clever jabbing and had big George slowed to a walk in the first part of the fifth.

Godfrey, twice warned for low hitting, then fouled out. The referee, John Reilly, announced immediately that the blow was a deliberate foul. It was a left hook to the groin which stretched Carnera in agony on the canvas.

There was no count, as in the case of Jack Sharkey, under somewhat similar circumstances, who dropped Max Schmeling with a low blow. A physician entered the ring and announced Carnera a much wronged man.

The referee then awarded the bout to Primo as a partial compensation and Godfrey shuffled off into the darkness. It was big George's swan song, and it ended on a sour note.

With Carnera, it is another story. He proved himself quite a figure of a man, possibly a coming champion.

Boston, Mass., June 24.—Vittorio Campolo's ranking in the heavyweight division remained in doubt today after his knockout victory over Salvatore Ruggirello of Italy in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Braves Field last night.

Campolo demonstrated that he has a terrific punch, but he apparently hasn't learned much about boxing. He ran into one of Ruggirello's round house rights in the first round and was dangerously near trouble when the bell saved him.

In the second round Campolo unleashed a terrific attack and had Ruggirello on the floor three times.

The end came after two minutes and 10 seconds of the third round. The fourth time Campolo dropped the big Italian to the canvas, he was counted out.

Campolo weighed 229 and Ruggirello 205.

TO USE NEW PROTECTOR IN RING FIGHTS

New York, June 24.—(U.P.)—Permission to use a new protector was sought of the New York state athletic commission today by Al Singer, New York lightweight, who faces a championship bout with Sammy Mandell here July 17.

The new protector known as the "Taylor Cup" makes it impossible for a boxer to be incapacitated by a low blow, Singer said in a telegram to James Farley, chairman of the commission.

William Muldoon, commission member, said that the Singer plan would be turned over to a committee appointed by the commission.

The commission today announced receipt of a challenge by Jimmy Johnston for Phil Scott to meet the winner of the second Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey fight, if a second fight is held.

The Exception
I like folks to be what they are.
But I am always filled with rage,
When I am on a motor trip
And my old bus does act its age.

Unchanged
"Do you act towards your wife as you did before you married her?"
"Exactly. I remember just how I used to act when I first fell in love with her. I used to lean over the fence in front of her house and gaze at her shadow on the curtain, afraid to go in. And I act the same way now."—Copper's Weekly.

BRAINERD RIFLE CLUB ORGANIZED

Gets Membership in National Association; to Meet Monday Evening

EQUIPMENT FURNISHED

Two Ranges Selected For High Powered and Low Powered Guns

Braierd has its rifle club. Granted membership in the National Rifle Association the first of the year, the Braierd Club has taken steps to bring about an active season in target shooting.

Plans for the immediate scheduling of practice in shooting will be outlined at a meeting of the members Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce rooms at which time a school of instruction on firing will also be held.

Twelve Legion members are charter members of the Braierd club. They recently elected the following as their officers:

President—Geo. H. Berkholder.
Secretary—Arthur Hagberg.
Executive Officer—L. L. Peterson.

Provisions of the club will make it possible for citizens other than Legionnaires to become members. In this way the club is expected to swell its membership to include many marksmen in this city.

Initial equipment furnished the club by the government includes two 30-30 army rifles and two .22 calibre army target rifles.

Two ranges have been selected for the use of the Braierd club, the one west of the Mississippi river and south of West Braierd and the other for 30-30 calibre target shooting and the small calibre practice in the hills above Whiteley's Creek east of the Mississippi river.

Rifles, ammunition and targets will be furnished free by the government. Showing good faith in affiliation with the national organization the local club has furnished a $10 bond and each member pays a fee of $1 which entitles the club to privileges including the sending of a delegate to Camp Perry, Ohio, each year, his expenses being paid.

Three types of medals will be given. For shooting a score of 306 and better out of a possible 350 the member will receive a medal for expert rifleman, for 290 out of 350 a medal for sharpshooter, and for 270 out of 350, a medal for marksman.

Shooting will be on the following order: 20 rounds prone, 20 rounds kneeling, 20 rounds sitting and 10 rounds rapid firing.

Range practice and competition will be from distances of 200, 300 and 500 yards and divided as follows: 200 yard range, 10 rounds prone, 10 rounds kneeling, 10 rounds sitting; 300 yards, 10 rounds sitting, 10 rounds prone; 500 yards, 10 rounds sitting, 10 rounds prone.

ATHLETICS IN CONTEST WITH SENATORS, YANKS

YANKEES LOST GROUND YESTERDAY, DIVIDED DOUBLE BILL WITH ST. LOUIS

PHILADELPHIA AND WASHINGTON WIN FROM CHICAGO AND CLEVELAND

(By United Press)

The American League pennant race settled down today to a fight mainly between the world champion Philadelphia Athletics, Washington and New York.

The Yankees lost ground yesterday, dividing a double-header with St. Louis while Philadelphia and Washington were taking double victories from Chicago and Cleveland, respectively, and now are three games behind the leaders.

Art Shires, Heinie Manush and Alvin Crowder, new members of the Washington team, starred as Washington defeated Cleveland 9 to 5 in the first game of yesterday's double-header. Crowder pitched the entire game and Manush and Shires got 3 hits each. Firpo Marberry held the Indians to seven hits to win the second game, 3 to 2.

Heavy hitting and effective pitching gave Philadelphia a double win over Chicago. Lefty Grove held the Sox to 5 hits and struck out 11 men to take the opener, 2 to 1, and the champions slugged out 20 hits to annex the nightcap, 17 to 9.

Henry Johnson allowed St. Louis only 4 hits as the New York Yankees took the first half of a double-header, 15 to 0, but three Yankee pitchers were ineffective in the second game and St. Louis won, 10 to 6.

Russ Scarritt's timely hitting and Danny MacFayden's brilliant pitching gave Boston a 2 to 0 triumph over Detroit.

The Brooklyn Robins held their 2½-game lead in the National League, pounding out 28 hits and tying two major league records to defeat Pittsburgh, 19 to 6.

Chicago's second place Cubs staged a hitting spree, gathering 24 hits in a 21 to 8 victory over Philadelphia. Hack Wilson led the attack with five safeties, including his 22nd homer of the year.

Bill Walker blanked the Cincinnati Reds with three hits and the New York Giants won, 3 to 0.

The Boston Braves rallied to overcome a 5-run lead and defeated St. Louis, 12 to 9.

Kansas City, June 24.—Kansas City took the fourth game of the series from the Indianapolis Indians here yesterday, 4 to 3. The Indians won the first three games.

St. Paul, June 24.—Toledo broke St. Paul's winning streak here yesterday by taking a 15 to 5 decision in the fourth game of the series. St. Paul's two victories Sunday ended a run of seven consecutive wins.

Milwaukee, June 24.—Louisville and Milwaukee halved their four-game series here. Louisville took the final game yesterday, 10 to 4. The two teams made 28 hits.

Minneapolis, June 24.—Two runs in the eleventh inning gave Minneapolis an 8 to 7 decision over Columbus here yesterday. It was the ninth straight defeat for Columbus.

OUR HIRED MAN

BY A. J. DUNLAP

He said he "came in on the rods"—
His baggage was only a box.
Sis peeked and saw only a razor,
Some cards and a pair of old Sox.
We urchins were up in the haymow
One day as he harnessed old Nell;
She stepped on his toe and he shouted
"Bad names that we never would tell."

His "partner" who worked on the bridge gang,
Got sick with a fever that fell;
Our hired man drew all of his wages
And gave him the check for it all.
He said, "If my pard gets the knockout,
I want to be sure that I done,
The best that I could when he lived—
He's broke, the poor son-of-a-gun."

Some day he must stand at the bar
Up yonder and answer the call
Of him who is lord of the Nations—
The judge of the great and the small.
I know the great judge will remember
The cork, though a mere bagatelle,
He gave to his pard, and forget
The bad words he said to old Nell.

GODFREY FINED HALF HIS PURSE FOR FOULING CARNERA

Philadelphia, June 24.—(U.P.)—George Godfrey, negro heavyweight boxer, had his license revoked and was fined half his purse for fouling Primo Carnera in the fifth round of a scheduled ten round bout at the Phillies ball park here last night, it was announced by the state athletic commission today. Carnera was absolved of all blame in that connection.

Godfrey's share of the purse was reported as approximately $10,000.

Philadelphia, June 24.—(U.P.)—The license of George Godfrey, negro heavyweight, was revoked as a result of his foul blow against Primo Carnera last night and the Italian was suspended indefinitely because of difficulties between William Duffy, his American manager, and an inspector of the Pennsylvania athletic commission today.

Works at Either End

On a new type of train in France the locomotive stays at the same end always, pulling on one trip and pushing on the return, the engineer being placed in a special control station at the front of the train on the pushing trip.

"Specie" and "Species"

Specie refers to gold, silver or other metal money bearing the official stamp of the country issuing it. Species is a classificatory term subordinate to a genus distinguishing a particular group of animals or plants.

Quite Friendly

Burly Ruffian (to timid pedestrian)—Got a penny, please, stranger? Me an' Bill 'ere wants ter toss up, an' see which of us takes yer watch, an' which yer pocketbook!—Border Cities Star.

The Dapple-Gray

When the dapple-gray was a 4-yr old,
And he led the herd with a flying mane,
Then the idle days of the colt were done,
And the hour had come for the trace and rein.
So we 'snubbed 'im up' at the 'snubbing post,'
And he fought, red-eyed, for an hour or more,
'Til his will was broke by the hempen rope
And he let us fit the old hackamore.
Then his value rose in the marks of men,
As he learned the law of the trace and rein.
As he drew the plow through the ranks of corn,
Or the dusty reaper that cut the grain.
When the world has learned with the dapple-gray
That the power to serve is the mete of worth—
Then the golden age of our dreams will dawn
And a truer freedom will bless the earth.

Her Command Is Complete

By HARDIN BURNLEY

Helen WILLS
—THIS QUEEN OF THE COURTS SEEMS TO OUTCLASS HER FIELD TO A GREATER EXTENT THAN ANY MAJOR ATHLETIC CHAMPION IN MODERN TIMES.

THERE is no champion so secure in his or her domination of sports, be they amateur or professional, as Mrs. Helen Wills Moody. She is engaged this week in the annual world's tennis classic at Wimbledon, a suburb of London that symbolizes the court game as much as Madison Square Garden does boxing or Meadowbrook, polo.

Ever since the incomparable Suzanne Lenglen became a professional—and that latter division of tennis is rather small—"Our Helen" (as Americans call her) has become quite definitely the world's "Queen of the Courts."

Early in 1926 the electrically luminous Lenglen, then an amateur, defeated America's Helen Jacobs in a match that was unofficially for the women's championship of the world. Lenglen was at her best on this occasion, yet the Miss Wills (who has improved considerably since) extended her almost to the limit.

When the sensational Suzanne turned pro that act barred her from amateur competition and "Our Helen" naturally succeeded to the throne. But this remarkable native daughter of California was not content to merely hold championship honors. Every year, she goes abroad to play in the important competitions in England and France, and is fully as active in the United States. She wins with regularity, usually in straight sets.

Her sister-Californian, Helen Jacobs, has been her chief rival for at least three seasons but whenever they've met in contest, Wills has won decisively. All other opponents have been beaten, usually in overwhelming fashion.

No other champion holds such sway, not even "Bobby" Jones. And there seems to be no serious threat to the continuance of "Queen Helen's" reign. Thus far this Spring she has won all her matches in France and England. She seems even better than she was last season.

There were rumors of retirement connected with her marriage last Winter but she speedily dispelled these. "I will play as long as I enjoy the game without any undue strain," announced "Our Helen." And that should mean a reign of many years.

Unfairness of Men

The unfairness of men in their hatreds has always interested me, in a reflective and mournful way. Most of the terrible indictments one encounters in conversations or in reading are of incidents that never happened.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

The Ruffled Curtains

By BARBARA W. BAILE

(Copyright.)

ALLAN and Janice Gray had been married six months.

Allan, successful attorney, calm, big, entirely masculine—and Janice, vivacious, small, delightfully feminine, were even more in love than during their ecstatic engagement days.

The one "fly in the ointment" as far as Janice was concerned was "Graylawn," the old Gray family estate. Here Allan had lived since babyhood; even after the death of his parents—continuing to maintain the establishment. Here were the same too ornate, old-fashioned furnishings; even some of the now aged servants. And here to "Graylawn," immediately after their marriage, Allan brought his wife; and to Janice, accustomed to simplicity always, the massive old house, with its formality and stiffness, had seemed gray and depressing indeed!

Allan's home life at "Graylawn" had been anything but gay, until—on a business trip to the South, through a family with whom they were mutually acquainted, he had met Janice Moore, who seemed to him as radiant and intensely lovable as her own southern sunshine. His calm, broad nature, and her joyous personality seemed a compelling force between them; and after a friendship that was sure to ripen when based on such congeniality as they found in each other, Allan's business had compelled him to return North. Finding himself utterly restless away from Janice, he had returned and wooed and won.

Janice would not hurt Allan by expressing her dislike of his old home-stand, but her "dream house" had been so different. In Nashville, down in her own beloved Tennessee, Janice had capably filled a responsible business position which had intensely interested her. At times, in moments of relaxation, there were day dreams of the time when she, of course, would be putting business aside and cooking daintily, joyously in a spotless white kitchen; happily arranging jolly bits of furniture; hanging ruffled curtains in her own "dream house!" Breakfast in a darling little kitchen—with gayly sprigged breakfast dishes—and happiness!

This was Allan's birthday, and Janice had given extra attention to the ordering for their first celebration. In a dress of soft white, beautiful because of its simplicity, Janice met Allan in the vast hall; and slipping her fingers under the lapels of his coat, wished him the happiest of birthdays.

"Dinner ready to be served, dear?" Putting his arm about her, Allan at once led the way through the hall.

Why the last time she had worn the white dress he had picked her up in his arms when she met him and sworn he was going to carry her in to dinner, butler or not! Was it so soon men lose interest? But no—Allan was so thoughtful, so lovable—why he was tired of course! Surely—Janice chided herself—she had been associated with business long enough to know that many times one went home utterly weary, wanting just relaxation. Yes, he was tired—and brightly she tried to interest him during the dinner.

Allan pulled back her chair and together they walked to the library. Allan to smoke and Janice to strike a light for him and then—to the piano. But tonight Allan did not come to the great chair beside the piano, where he so often listened to her music. A bit panicky—she went to him. Always before he had come to her!

"Allan! What is it, dear?" Seating herself on the arm of his chair she ran slim fingers through his hair.

"Janice, little girl"—and he drew both her hands between his own—"I'm a failure—an utter failure! I have suffered such losses in stocks that we must immediately change our mode of living!" He looked so distressed, so fatigued that suddenly she felt he was just a tired small boy and it thrilled her to realize that he needed her!

"Allan, you mean we must give up this home?"

"Janice, yes!"

"Allan! And I can cook your breakfasts—and handle my own beautiful linens—and prepare your dinners—and sit close to you at the table without thinking the butler is watching?"

Allan was not a small boy now. He rose to his feet, drawing Janice almost harshly to him.

"And Allan—could we afford a tiny house out of town—where I can make ruffled curtains—and—"

But Allan had her in his arms and she was breathless.

"Janice, sweet, you mean that?"

For answer her arms wound round his neck—and when he kissed her eyes, her lips, Janice knew that "dreams come true."

Insect Pests Destroy Books

Bibliophiles whose collections include rare old volumes suffer greatly from the ravages of the death-watch beetle. The insects bore their way sometimes from cover to cover of the most ponderous tomes. They make a meal of the book paste and take delight in leather bindings.

The rapping noise made by the beetle is caused by the insect striking its head against hollow wood. It sounds somewhat like the drawing of a cork and often can be distinctly heard.—New York Times.

Collars Featured on Spring Coats

Shoulder Cape Prominent; Gaiyak Takes Lead as Fashionable Fur.

The spring coat may be depended on to be tricky about the neckline. The great majority have collars enlarged to cape proportions. The coat with shoulder cape is the coat of the year. Not every one can wear it, however. It is the choice of the slender, the wide shoulder line produced by the cape being an unfortunate one for other figures, says a fashion writer in the Kansas City Star.

Some coats go so far as to have two capes and it is an almost general rule that where there is no cape there are revers or some soft collar drapery.

Women, having become so accustomed to hugging their coats about them, still retain a preference for the one-sided or wrap around type. The type is not, however, insistent.

Gaiyak takes the lead as the spring fur. It is used in black, beige, egg shell, gray-white and usually in rather wide flat bands on the edge of the capes in question. Egg shell lapin is another approved fur trimming, while, of course, fox is too flattering to be released from service.

There are coats galore that are not fur trimmed, but even so it is the fur-trimmed models which are characteristic. Black and all shades of blue are the color preferences, with, of course, browns, grays, greens and reds in much less proportion. Tweed remains a tremendous factor in spring styles for both town and country wear. Shark skin is one of the new fabrics and a revival of covert one of the talking points. Soft, novelty woolsens remain definitely in the style picture.

Relatively little response to the velvetene separate coat is felt. A generous employment of pleats is becoming more and more a feature in the development of the season's fashions. Suits are no exception to the new ruling that pleats are again desirable. Not content with introducing circular pleats, Lelong sponsored ruffled ones, and pleated ruffles are no longer barred from the domain of the custom tailor.

The subtly suggested high waistline is cleverly done this spring. One may have one's waistline at different levels, depending on the point of view from which the costume is seen. This is also true of capes. A suit, or coat may have a cape as viewed from the back, or a cape as seen from the side. Capes are so often divided or made to disappear into seams that one is further fascinated by them.

Hose to Match Tweed or Smooth Crepe Costumes

Whether it be a tweed costume or a frock of smooth crepe, you may match it with your hose this season, for silk weaves that simulate these two popular fabrics have been discovered for hostery. This problem of matching hose to complexion or to gloves, selecting hose to harmonize with this frock or that one, is made a little more intricate by this new type but think how much more cleverly one can be assembled! Net hose to accompany the lace evening frock is a discovery of the past season that has become even more popular than in its first days (or should we say evenings?).

Floral Designs Are Used on Fashionable Handbags

Somebody must have been concentrating in a big way upon handbags, for never were these accessories more smart and beautiful. There are afternoon and evening bags of satin embroidered with chenille in floral designs. There are bags for the tailored costume of tailored tan antelope with a tan calf trim; or of black calf, with an inset of black antelope consisting of two intersecting round disks and another disk posed at a far corner.

ON REARING CHILDREN from CRIB TO COLLEGE

Compiled by the Editors of THE PARENTS' MAGAZINE

Family prayers have practically disappeared. But hymns remain, and they are one of the best means of making religion a part of that family life which is so brief and so dear. They have probably a stronger hold on most people than any other religious form.

Garnishes may be considered frivolous, but frequently they make the difference between a tempting dish and an uninteresting one.

In most camps there is today a greater emphasis upon cultural aspects of living. In one type of girls' camps esthetic dancing and dramatics are featured. In boys' camps, too, dramatics, mock courts, pageants, and appreciation of music are of recognizable value. Moreover, the basic social properties no longer are absent on leave from the better regulated camps. Behavior at table often actually improves as a result of camp standards and the good example of one's counselor.

Parents' magazine smart style patterns are not only unusually smart, well-planned and practical, but each one brings with it a delightful new feature: a miniature of itself from which a doll's dress can be cut. From this complete little pattern small daughter may learn not only the fine art of dressmaking but, even more important, lessons of good taste and style.

The American Home Economics association is pursuing its studies and working toward suitable legislation to secure honest merchandising, and the proper labeling of such things as blankets and sheets, and other materials used in the equipment of the household.

All children should have the opportunity to find relief from emotional strain in some form of music expression, even if it is no more than to follow the example of the American Indian who sits with his drum between his knees, and with his rhythmic tapping drives away the evil spirit that disturbs his peace of mind. This is the main object of music study; to give the child an outlet for the energies within him; to give him the comfort and satisfaction of learning to discern beauty, and of expressing, on some sympathetic musical instrument, whatever sorrow or happiness he feels.

Flower Scents Latest Fashion in Perfumes

Now that every one is striving to keep pace with the mode and appear ladylike, romantically modern, quaintly smart, or demurely elegant, the exotic types of perfumes just will not serve.

Unquestionably the ankle-length demureness of the net gown with tiny puff sleeves calls for a demure, delicate fragrance. The magnificent opera gowns of velvet with its attendant blaze of imitation or real diamonds requires a harmonizing scent. Similarly the feminine formal suit, with its soft, frilled blouse of satin or crepe, needs a subtle feminine odor. The skilled simplicity of the more elegant sports mode exacts a corresponding sweet odor.

What shall these perfumes be? Floral fragrances and bouquet odors. With the new silhouette these light oral scents and sweet bouquets create an allure and further the effect of femininity. They need not be entirely unsophisticated, as the newer odors offered by the best perfumers attest.

New Silhouette Noted in Spring Sports Duds

The vogue for brilliant sports clothes is interpreted in green shantung with black polka dots. The skirt is pleated in front and fits snugly at the hipline to achieve the new silhouette.

The Song of the Reaper

BY A. J. DUNLAP

The greasy old reaper was rusty
And stood in the tumbled-down shed,
Through most of the year it was silent—
A thing without purpose, and dead.
But harvest-time waked the old reaper,
When summer winds laughed through the grain;
Then day after day as it labored
The old reaper sang this refrain:
I'm only a battered old reaper,
Ramshackle and covered with rust,
And I toil in the wheel fields of summer
Through the shimmering heat and the dust;
I love to be out in the open,
My spirit in action set free
As I gather the golden-ripe harvest—
God's gift to humanity."

The Call of the Hills

By A. J. Dunlap

Did you ever sit in the saddle alone
And hear the gray coyotes cry,
As the moonlight fell on the dun dead hills
And stars heckled the tranquil sky?
Have you felt the spell of the brooding night,
The lure of the stars that shone,
Till you longed to live for a thousand years
Out there in the hills alone?

There are those who palter a penciled prayer
Or murmur a man-made creed,
In the stress of life as they seek a peace,
To answer the tired souls' need;
But a deeper peace for the hearts of men
Is out where the bright stars shine,
Where from dusk to dawn you can always feel
The nearness of things Divine.

COLTS and BOYS

By A. J. Dunlap

Colts and boys are much alike,
Our father used to say—
Now there's the Hamiltonians,
And Billie, Bert and Jay;
The Hamiltonians will do
Just anything you please—
A tight rein with a rattan whip
Will handle them with ease.

The boys are nearly like the colts—
They, too, need steady reins;
But whips will never do at all;
For surging through their veins
There sweeps the blood of centuries
That, from times ancient awe,
Swept out to dominate the earth—
As master, not as slave.

So when our toddling days were done,
He put the switch away
And took us in his confidence;
Myself and Bill and Jay.
He's gone but still somehow our souls,
In life's rough stress and strain,
Are guided by his steady voice,
And hand upon the rein.

Women's Work in Homes

A survey of a group of women in cities of from 2,500 to 50,000 population showed that the average time was 51 hours a week, while in cities of 50,000 and upward the average was a little more than 48 hours. The farm women group averaged more than 62 hours a week, making the general average for all women observed slightly more than 51 hours a week.

Few Scottish Forests Left

The Caledonian forests have undergone great changes; it is thought that at one time they consisted of oak, to be supplanted by fir. One well-known authority says that birch will follow the fir, and later oak will again appear. Nowadays there are only a few remnants of the vast forests, and there seems little doubt that large tracts were burnt to get rid of the wolves.

Insects Long on Earth

Insects are among the oldest of all animals that have living representatives on the earth today, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Their fossil remains have been found in the rocks of the geologic period commonly known as the carboniferous, which, according to present methods of calculating past time, may have been laid down as long ago as 300,000,000 years.

Air and Water

Air saturated with water vapor is lighter than dry air of the same temperature because water vapor is lighter than air. When water evaporates, a given quantity of water is dispersed through a large volume so that the resulting vapor is lighter than a mass of air having the same volume and at the same pressure.

It may also give an advisory opinion upon any dispute or question referred to it by the League of Nations.

Alkaloid in Stimulants

The alkaloid in cocoa and chocolate is theobromine. There is from 1.7 to 2 per cent theobromine in cocoa and about 1 per cent in chocolate. There is from .8 to 1.8 per cent caffeine in coffee and from 1.1 to 2 per cent caffeine in black tea and from 1.1 to 3.5 per cent caffeine in green tea.

The prizes for the above are perennial roots and tulip bulbs. There are 16 classes open to all growers of peonies. You do not have to be a member of the Crow Wing Garden Flower society to compete. It is hoped that all those having peony blooms will enter. The society wishes to make this show the equal of former years and show the people of Crow Wing county and the tourists, what Crow Wing county can do in the horticultural line.

ROGERS TO PAY NORTHWEST VISIT

Will Rogers, internationally famous cowboy humorist, pays the Northwest a personal visit next Saturday, opening a week's engagement on the stage of the Minnesota theater in Minneapolis, in conjunction with the showing of his latest sound picture, "So This Is London," according to an announcement made here today by R. F. Emig, local representative of Public Theaters.

Without a doubt one of the highest paid entertainers in the world, Rogers is said to receive $350 per minute for his weekly Sunday night broadcasts, and his salary at the Minnesota theater for the week of June 23 is reputed the highest ever paid an entertainer at this mammoth showhouse.

MRS. VEVA P. HUSTED BUYS MILLINERY

Mrs. Veva P. Husted, proprietor of the Husted Hat Shop, has purchased the Kracher Millinery and will take possession on July 1. She will move her stock and occupy the building now occupied by the Kracher Millinery at 717 Laurel street.

Mrs. Husted also has purchased the hemstitching machine from Mrs. Frank Athmann as well as the stamped goods and will continue the hemstitching, stamped goods, hosiery and underwear line as well as all threads now being carried.

Mrs. Kracher and Mrs. Athmann are retiring from business after several years in Brainerd. Mrs. Husted has been in the millinery line in Brainerd for the past thirteen years.

The building now occupied by the Husted Hat Shop will be taken over by I. Ginsburg.

SHAUGOBAY SLAYS TROOPER IN 1857

"Cornstalk War" Killing Recalled in Connection With Trial of Hanks at Duluth

CAPTURE, ESCAPE TOLD

Slain Mille Lacs Indian Blamed for Death of Cavalryman in Chisago County

Duluth, Minn., June 24.—How Shaugobay, the 100-year-old Chippewa Indian, slain on the Mille Lacs Indian reservation March 30, this year, killed a Minnesota cavalry trooper 73 years ago in the course of an uprising in Chisago county, known as the "Cornstalk war," was revealed by Hilding Swanson, Brainerd attorney. Mr. Swanson appeared in United States district court on behalf of William Taylor Hanks, husband of Shaugobay's great-granddaughter, who was tried here for killing his wife, her infant son and Shaugobay. The Indian warrior escaped punishment for his crime by escaping into the wilderness of northern Wisconsin.

According to a history of Minnesota by William Watts Folwell, first president of the University of Minnesota, Governor Medary late in August, 1857, received word that a band of Chippewa warriors was hovering about the Sunrise settlement on a small stream of that name in Chisago county. They had committed some thefts, had caused great alarm by insolent behavior, and were too numerous and too well armed to be dealt with by local authorities.

Governor Medary ordered out the St. Paul Light Cavalry company commanded by Capt. James Starkey. They discovered the enemy in full retreat. Trooper Frank Donnelly was in the lead shouting and waving his pistol. Shaugobay turned, leveled his gun and shot Donnelly through the arm and body. He died in a few minutes. Late in the afternoon of the following day the Indians were lodged in the Ramsey county jail. After a hearing, Judge R. R. Nelson discharged all but Shaugobay, whom he committed for trial for homicide in Chisago county.

He was turned over to the sheriff of Chisago county. For lack of a jail, the sheriff undertook to keep the prisoner in his own home, and did so for about a week. Choosing a favorable moment, Shaugobay broke "jail," swam the St. Croix river and disappeared. So ended the "cornstalk war."

EXPRESSES SYMPATHY

W. F. Wieland, Writing From New York City, Sends Condolences to Mrs. Carl Wheeler

W. F. Wieland, writing from New York City under date of June 20, to Mrs. Carl Wheeler, referred as follows to the death of Mr. Wheeler:

"Today I read in the Brainerd Dispatch of the terrible accident and sudden death of your husband. 'I was very much shocked because he had been a constant friend of mine from the time I first became acquainted with him, which was over 20 years ago. In fact I was in Brainerd the first part of May and had a very pleasant visit with him, and at which time he strongly urged me to visit him at his farm. He had a host of friends who liked him because of his frank and outspoken manner and because he was a genuine friend at all times. 'Please accept my sympathy in that loss that you have sustained.'"

Valuable Burls

The largest and perhaps most beautiful burls occur on redwood trees. The very large ones are valuable, being used to make nut and fruit bowls, serving trays, gavel, cribbage boards and other such articles. Small burls are sold for use as house plants, since they can be put in water and made to sprout shoots which are decorative.

N. P. VETERANS BACK FROM MEET

Western Trip Enjoyed Thoroughly By Party of Brainerd People

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bruhn have just returned from the Sixth Annual convention of the Veterans' Association of the Northern Pacific held at Portland, Oregon June 12, 13 and 14. The convention was held at the Multnomah hotel, Portland.

Election of officers was held the morning of the first day with G. R. Merritt, St. Paul as president; Jesse Hoxable conductor at Spokane as vice president; T. R. Sloan, secretary-treasurer and M. H. McGowan, historian were re-elected to the same position. W. T. Nickels was re-elected as director, and will serve with I. G. Worden and E. E. Dildine.

The afternoon of the first day included a trip up the Columbia River highway, a very wonderful trip with a banquet at the Grand Ball room at the hotel at 7 o'clock that evening.

The second day, June 13 was entirely filled with the Rose Festival. All delegates were given seats at the stadium. The procession took several hours to pass a given point and included sixty-two floats which were described as "each being more beautiful than the preceding one" as well as thirteen bands and drum corps, making a most beautiful display. The delegates felt very fortunate in being able to take in the Rose festival.

The festival included the coronation of the "Queen of Rosaria" with her seven princesses, the floral exhibits, children's exhibition and regatta, pyrotechnics. The children's exhibition, of 10,000 Portland school children was in the huge civic stadium. They exhibited drills of all kinds, concluding with the May pole dance. The regatta included water craft from canoes to sea-going steamers going down the Willamette river, with fireworks as darkness fell.

The morning of the third day, June 14, all delegates left Portland by a special train over the S. P. & S. Ry. to Astoria. The train followed the lower Columbia river. At Astoria they saw the great column commemorating the exploration by Lewis and Clark, as well as other historical events. The giant column is on the mountain 700 feet high, and itself is 126 feet high. They ascended the column by a spiral stairway of 165 steps. It is located at the mouth of the Columbia river, commanding a wonderful view of the country. There a salmon dinner was served to the 300 taking the trip.

In the afternoon the trip was taken to Seaside where they visited the Pacific Ocean Beach, the Lewis & Clark Salt Cahn, etc., and returned to Portland and the convention was closed.

From Portland Mr. and Mrs. Bruhn left for Seattle where they spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. S. Vanek, formerly of this city. Here they took in many sights including the locks, which are the second largest in the world, the Panama locks being the largest. Here they saw both large and small boats going each way.

They spent a few days at Tacoma where they took in the trip to Mt. Rainier, going as far up as Paradise Inn, which is about 6,000 feet up. The roads had been cleared the day before as far as the Inn. Mr. Bruhn stated this morning the majestic beauty of the mountain surpassed the rose festival in his estimation, however, the most beautiful sight of all was "to see home again."

There were about 500 attending the convention. Among those from Brainerd were Mr. and Mrs. Eric Kronberg, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Jones, G. N. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Al Forsythe and Edward and Olof Ovig, Mr. and Mrs. George Ames and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mitchell.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our relatives and friends for the kindness and sympathy shown during the death of our beloved wife, daughter and sister. Especially do we thank Mrs. P. G. Fallquist and Miss Jennie Beck for their beautiful songs; we are also grateful for the beautiful floral tributes.

HOUSE INJURIES RESULT IN DEATH

West Brainerd Carpenter Succumbs Today to Serious Car Injuries Days Ago

SUFFERING WAS INTENSE

Fractures Spine, Four Ribs, Nose, and Crushes Kidneys When Vehicle Overturns

Seventeen days ago, June 7, E. R. Houze, West Brainerd carpenter suffered severe injuries when the car he was driving overturned in the ditch on the Pine River road seven miles south of Pillager when he lost control of the vehicle while driving through loose sand.

At noon today Houze breathed his last after days and nights of suffering, relieved only by the injection of morphine. His death was officially recorded at the St. Joseph's hospital at 12:10 p. m. He passed away while in a sleep.

So serious were his injuries that physicians pronounced that although he survive the immediate results of the accident he would be paralyzed for life.

His injuries included a fractured spine, four fractured ribs, one of which punctured a lung, a fractured nose and crushed kidneys.

Mr. Houze was born in Indianapolis, Ind. on February 8, 1882, living there years ago. He followed the trade of carpentry and was president of the Carpenters Union of Brainerd for several years, moving here many years ago.

He leaves his widow and five stepchildren; Oscar A. Orman, Brainerd; John Orman, Baltimore, Md.; Clarence Orman, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Dan Jones, Duluth and Mrs. Walter Stewart, Yakima, Wash.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

TENT SHOW PLAYS TO LARGE HOUSE

A packed tent greeted the initial appearance here last evening of the Lew Henderson Players at the tent theatre at the corner of Oak and Sixth streets. Two hours of continuous entertainment was presented including a play "Skidding," and in between acts of vaudeville.

BLACKBURN SENDS CITY GREETINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Blackburn and Son of Byrd Expedition Have Jubilant Reunion

The reception given Admiral Byrd and his party by New York was a scene never to be forgotten. T. T. Blackburn, Brainerd, writes to the Brainerd Dispatch.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn are in New York City visiting their son Quin, a member of the Antarctic expedition with the Byrd party.

"Son Quin saw us first. It was a proud moment for us. He looks well and happy and says he hopes he may get the opportunity of going with Byrd on another expedition," writes Mr. Blackburn.

The Brainerd couple had the pleasure also of meeting many of the members of the party and of receiving a hearty greeting from Byrd.

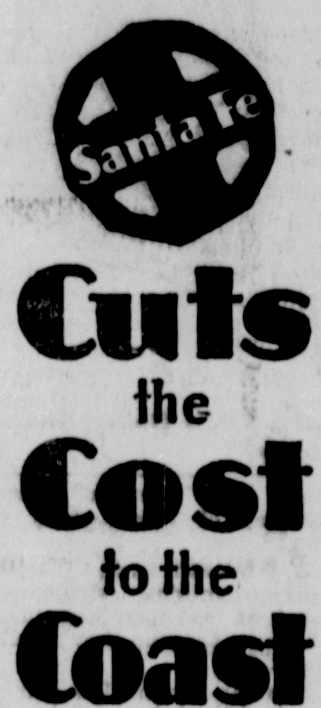

"The success of the party was due largely to the high type of men with me. I am proud to congratulate you, Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn, for having such a fine son as Quin," the admiral is reported as saying in meeting the Brainerd couple.

"Quin sends his hearty greetings to Brainerd. While he has several engagements he must fill he hopes to find time to visit his friends here sometime this summer," Mr. Blackburn writes.

G. A. R. AND W. R. C. TO HEAR REPORTS

All members and candidates of the Grand Army and Women's Relief Corps are requested to meet at the I. O. O. F. hall Wednesday afternoon, June 25, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Bertha Theviot, secretary of the organizations, reported today.

The meeting is called for the hearing of reports from the department convention and the transaction of business.

Stock Fire Insurance and National Prosperity

That American business is sound is witnessed by the huge construction program which marks this year 1930.

Billions of dollars are being invested by public utilities and railroads; by municipal, state and federal governments in public buildings, plants, bridges and highways; by private interests serving the public in a large way. Improvements, extensions and new projects are the order of the day. Prosperity and credit in this country cannot long be jarred by any speculative flurry.

A Wall of Defense

One major reason for this is the protection afforded by insurance. Stock Fire Insurance alone provides a coverage of around 150 billion dollars, thus setting up a wall of defense for industry and property that no adversity can seriously harm.

Without the support of Stock Fire Insurance the billions for new enterprises and replacements could not be spent. Business would undertake no such pretentious program without the stabilization, the protection and the indemnity which Stock Fire Insurance makes possible.

Yet consistently, through the last twenty years, the cost of this basic commercial necessity has declined.

"WHERE'S EMILY?"

by CAROLYN WELLS

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE.

PREPARATIONS are being made for the marriage of lovely Emily Duane to Rodney Sayre, upstanding, young New Englander, at her home, "Knollwood," in exclusive Hilldale Park. Emily is thrilled with the diamond necklace presented to her by Rod.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER III.

EMILY flew across the room to a mirror, and peacocked and prouetted about, as she viewed her precious necklace from all angles and in all lights.

"How do you like it?" she smiled, leaning over the back of a chair, and letting the chain of stones run over the velvet cushions.

"Perfect!" declared Betty, and Sayre looked at the smiling eyes that held his.

Very dark, Emily's eyes were, almost black, and their white lids, often falling over them, gave her at times the look of a siren.

Her face had a natural pallor, and though she carefully tinted it now and then from her compact, yet her rouge did not hold like the other girls' and much of the time Emily was positively pale.

"Red up, Emily, do," cried Nell. "You look like your own ghost!"

"Lal Singh won't think you're pretty if you're so white!" Pete declared. "Is he coming to rehearsal?"

"The Swami?" Emily tried to speak calmly, and did, too, but a quiver of her eyelids showed her slight embarrassment.

"Yes," said Lamb, seeing a chance to tease. "I was going to tell his reverence, the Garner, that you had left your fortune to Lal Singh. I was 'I said you mightn't want me to—"

"Trush your nonsense, Burt!" Sayre shot at him. "Do you suppose I'm going to let you rag my wife?"

"Your wife?"

"Same as. Anyway, if you say a word she doesn't want you to, I'll—"

"There, there, Roddy, boy," said Emily, standing behind him and placing a hand over his mouth.

Then she twirled her thick, wavy hair, of a golden, almost yellow gloss, and announced:

"Whichever prefer to be blonds!" Whereupon, Rodney jumped up and went for her.

Very dear she looked, caught in Sayre's arms, her lovely head drooping on his shoulder, and her necklace dangling like a flashing thread of light.

Her dark bobbed hair was long enough to shake its soft curls sides and come-clipped at the back.

Leaning back against her big, strong over, she stood, unconcernedly smiling at the others.

"And now," she said, "we must get ready for the rehearsal. Spinks and he are about six, and I have to get into my—"

"Oh, Emily, you're not going to wear your wedding gown at rehearsal!" and Aunt Judy looked really aghast.

"No, no, ducky; I've a sort of jummy frock, a make-believe wedding dress, with a long train and veil and all that. I'm going to rehearse in that."

"Going to rehearse in the church?" asked Groby.

"No, too much trouble. We'll just go through the paces here. You see Spinks—"

"Who is Spinks?" asked Pete—"Why he's the Funeral Director. You needn't laugh, because he is that, too. He takes full charge of the wedding parade, and you must all do exactly as he says. And obey him, or he'll get awfully mad."

honor. They're coming over for tea, too. Be here any minute."

"Is the Swami coming?" This from Lamb.

"I hope so," and Emily faced him. "Oh, please do like my Swami-wammi! Don't paste him all the time. Remember he commutes with unseen worlds; he contemplates the Over-Soul—"

"Hush, Emily! What are you saying? Are you talking of Lal Singh?"

This speech, in irate and excited tones, came from the red, vered lips of a young woman just entering.

She was obviously angry, and as evidently the cause of her ire was the overhearing of Emily's words.

"Oh, Polly, dear!" and Emily flew to greet the newcomer and kissed her with effusion.

"Why, what a churlish speech!" He stared at her, and comprehended.

"Oh," he laughed, "I didn't mean it that way! I mean she was the making of me—of my career. Her sympathy and help—"

"I see—your dearest friend and severest critic—or whatever it is. She's very beautiful, too."

"Yes; if she weren't quite so pretty she'd be the most beautiful woman in the world."

"Does that mean anything?" asked Betty, idly. She was bored with the man, and didn't want to waste any sparkle on him.

"Not to you, I dare say. Are you to be maid of honor?"

"Yes, and Mrs. Pennington is matron of honor. I know we'll do well together."

"Watch your step, then. Polly is a marvel when she's in regalia. 'So'm I,' returned Betty; 'what's she going to wear?'"

"Lord, I don't know. Let me see—she should wear—oh, well, nothing short of a complete Carmen costume brings out her best points."

"Yes, I can see that. She's a perfect Carmen. That wonderful black hair, those eyes—even the very way her cigarette droops from her lips. Do you care for any other woman, Mr. Pennington?"

IF YOU ARE A WOMAN

There are certain days that you will remember—

The day when you discovered that you were very pretty.

The day when every one understood you—even nurse.

The day when you discovered that you were no longer pretty.

The day when you thanked God that no one ever did know.

The day when a child called you "mummy" in mistake for its own.

The day when you cried because every one you loved had grown so old.

The day when you thought that the king bowed to you of all the populace.

The day when the man you had loved for years said to you, "At our age we cannot expect—"

The day when your friend failed you. And she was a woman. If she had been a man it would not have mattered.

The day when you were sentimental. You kissed his glove, or a dead rose, or something, and said to yourself, "No one need ever know."

And the day when you know that no days matter to you any more—only the nights wherein you may sleep.—Windsor Magazine.

TUCKED IN NUTSHELLS

I don't like policemen who wear wrist watches.—John Beggans.

We are in a period of economic low visibility.—Col. Leonard P. Ayres.

There is, after all, a moral obligation to be intelligent.—Isabel Paterson.

The ideal minister, like the ideal woman, exists only in fiction.—Rev. Lon R. Call.

What is interesting about each generation of men is the things they never thought of.—G. K. Chesterton.

As a pedestrian I am inclined to think all motorists knaves; as a motorist I am inclined to think all pedestrians fools.—Gerald Barry.

There is very little tolerance in this world. We talk much about it, but it is generally indifference, not tolerance.—Rev. Frederick W. Norwood.

It is almost as hard to acquire a taste for poetry in later years as a good French accent, a knowledge of wines or a sound set of teeth.—William Bolitho.

I once wrote in a newspaper: Weather is always news, crime is generally news, women are sometimes news, men are never news. I wrote in another newspaper about the dangers of generalization.—Gerald Gould.

AS WE GROW OLDER

We learn the value of time as a curative agent upon events and institutions—and to be patient.

That it is well to keep out of crowds.

"And this, too, shall pass away" applies to all our worries.

That good books are better company than gadding individuals.

That ceaseless buzzing activity may be disease, not enterprise.

Have your objectives and keep to them. Go into nothing new unless worth while.

That altercation is unwise because it is a waste of energy. Say nothing, and saw wood.

That it is scarcely worth while running to catch a car—or anything else, for that matter.

That we don't have to apologize for existing. Do what is right without preface or explanation.

That many things must be waited for and cannot be hastened; and the way not to be in a hurry is to begin them early.—Capper's Weekly.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Ventilate the rooms in which you sleep and work.

Plenty of orange and lemon juice will help when bilious.

Stockings will wear better if the darn is on the cross and not the up and down.

Refrigerators should never be kept in a cellar if it is damp. Dampness is ruinous to them.

The broiler from the oven makes an excellent rack on which to cool pies, cakes, etc., when they come piping hot from the oven.

The strawberry huller may continue its activities throughout the winter by acting as an implement to remove pin feathers from poultry.

Dandridge Family

Martha Washington was the daughter of Col. John Dandridge of New Kent, at the head of York river, Va. The William and Mary College Quarterly says that his daughters were Martha, Anna Maria, Frances, Elizabeth, and Mary. Frances and Mary died at the ages of 7 and 14 respectively. Anna Maria's married name was Bassett. Martha's married name was Custis and Washington, respectively. Elizabeth married John Aylett.
